ArtsCare: Surviving to Thriving Begins New Spring Series

Surviving to Thriving is a free six-week series of classes helping cancer survivors and their families explore and redefine their relationships and themselves through creativity. Each session features a different artist and art project, loosely based on a metaphor that reflects the cancer journey. No prior art experience is necessary.

Visual art, music, and poetry are all part of this popular series. Local artists from The Arts Center and Samaritan Health Services Art Therapist Dian Svendsen facilitate. Generously funded through Good Samaritan Hospital Foundation.

Dates: April 19- May 24, Tuesdays from 5:30 - 7pm
Good Samaritan Regional Medical Ctr, Conf. Rooms A-B
